

Sean Fullwood, Senior Chief, USCG Command Senior Chief Sector Boston

Senior Chief Sean Fullwood currently serves as the Command Senior Chief at USCG Sector Boston.

Most recently Senior Chief Fullwood served as the first Senior Enlisted Senate Liaison U.S. Coast Guard Senate Liaison Office. Coast Guard Liaisons act as a conduit for United States Senators to communicate with and resolve Congressional interests that involve the Coast Guard. He was responsible for coordinating and facilitating Coast Guard support to Senate Members, their staff, and constituents for maritime issues involving Coast Guard units and personnel.

Senior Chief Fullwood's previous assignments include: Food Service Officer and Unit Command Senior Chief aboard the USCGC MELLON Seattle, WA, the MWR Business Operations Manager and Wheelhouse Club Manager aboard BASE Portsmouth, Food Service Officer at Motor Life Boat Station Quillayute River, La Push, WA, the Food Service Officer aboard USCGC MAKO (WPB 87303), Cape May, NJ, Sector Delaware Bay, Philadelphia, PA, USCGC STORIS, Kodiak AK.

Senior Chief Fullwood joined the Coast Guard in July 2002. He attended Food Service Specialist Class "A" School graduating in January 2003. He advanced to Chief Petty Officer in 2012 and is a proud graduate of the Coast Guard Chief Petty Officers Academy and the Coast Guard Senior Enlisted Leadership Course Session 68.

Senior Chief Fullwood's personal awards include a Meritorious Service Medal, three Coast Guard Commendation Medal with Operational Distinguishing Device, two Coast Guard Achievement Medals with Operational Distinguishing Device, one Letter Of Commendation, the Coast Guard Cutterman's Insignia and various other personal and team awards.

Senior Chief Fullwood is a native of Lake Ariel, Pennsylvania and married to Karen Gold of Mt. Holly, New Jersey. He has a daughter Avonlea (8), who lives in Forks, Washington.