

USCGC JOSEPH DOYLE (WPC-1133)

WPC-1133 is named after Joseph O. Doyle who started serving as the Keeper of the Charlotte, New York Life Saving Station, in 1878, and became one of the most admired keepers of the United States Lifesaving Service. Amongst several rescues, Doyle was awarded the Gold Life Saving Medal for his courageous efforts during two shipwreck rescues in the fall of 1878.

Cutter Joseph Doyle is one of seven fast response cutters under the operational control of Sector San Juan, Puerto Rico, which conduct Coast Guard missions in the Eastern Caribbean including Counter-Drug, Alien-Migrant Interdiction Operations, and Search and Rescue throughout a 1.3 square nautical mile area of responsibility throughout the eastern Caribbean. We engage with various agencies such as Customs & Border Protection and local law enforcement to ensure that all local and federal laws are upheld on the high seas and all waters over which the United States has jurisdiction.
